

Every client transaction is saved in a database. Worker can later check client and purchase information.